

Boutsen Aviation Proudly Sponsors Young Aerobatic Talent Tommy Douillard

Monaco, August 7th — Boutsen Aviation is thrilled to announce its sponsorship of the soaring young talent, Tommy Douillard, a rising star in aerobatic flying.

Tommy Douillard, a third-generation pilot in his family, got his pilot's license in 2016 at the historic La Ferté-Alais airfield (Essonne, France) before diving headfirst into high-intensity aerobatic flying with the Dijon Voltige association in Darois (Côte d'Or, France). Since then, his determination has been unwavering as he continues his rapid ascent in this artistic discipline, an extreme sport that requires a combination of focus, diligence, precise maneuvers, and humility within the cockpit.

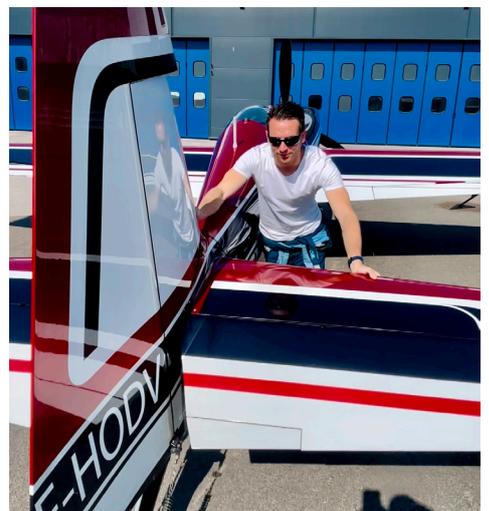

In aerobatic flying, nothing is given, and regular training is essential to maintain reflexes, handle stress, manage sudden accelerations, and cope with the sensations experienced during the maneuvers.
